World Lead Wanted from British Empire

AN INTERESTING FOREIGN OPINION.

BRITISH PROSPERITY MEANS WORLD PROSPERITY.

The following communication was sent to the "Daily Express" from a resident of Budapest, Hungary. It reflects a point of view that will startle many people.

There may be opinions divergent in the Empire whether it is sound to concentrate upon inter-empire trade. Surely the gentleman who handles the import of chilled meat from the Argentine to England is quite satisfied with conditions as they are at present, but it is a dead cert, that everybody within the Empire thinks that people outside the borders are definitely and un-animously against a closer relationship between the peoples of the British Empire.

You English must get away from such a shibboleth because it is not so, and because such a misconception might fetter the will of some of your leaders in Ottawa who are thinking in international terms, an inheritance from pre-war times, and owing to such a wrong idea will not get to grips with the problems on the tapis with the un-finchling will desirable.

We still remember what it meant when there was only one Lombard-street in the world, and we know that there will be peace and bread only when the shyly smiling gentleman with the tilted bowler in Throgmorton-street will not be troubled by surtaxes.

We know that in those happy times cheap and plentiful English money was reaching the whole world from one end to the other.

There was no graft, no political conditions to loans—and no frozen credits.

People who were willing to live in peace could do so and prosper. The world under the lead of the British was going to be a better place to live in, and we know that until your country will not actualize so much capital that it overflows the borders of the Empire prosperity may not come back to the world even if the gold stock of the Banque de France would be doubled and the skyscrapers of New York reach the stratosphere.

Where should we look to?

France within fifteen years has twice missed to seize the opportunity to give lead to a wondering world, first, when she did not pardon her conquered arch-enemy and make her a friend but instead demanded the last pound of flesh, and then when she did not distribute her barren gold between countries needing it and making it productive.

So glory passed a glorious nation, and "Boney" will have to wait perhaps for another hundred years before he can smile down contentedly to a nation of leaders.

The U.S.A. is still in her 'teens, a wonderful youth, indeed, but entirely inadequate for such a responsible task.

Germany is on the way back to before 1871, and is going to be once more a conglomerate of smaller and bigger States, when she will, no doubt, work for the benefit of the world in science, arts, and other spheres where not much character is needed, but she is unable to guide even herself.

The Russian monster is labouring under her own problems from which she will not extricate herself for fifty years.

She is trying to convert her peasants, so much land-minded, to mechanics, and that cannot succeed—everything going O. K.—within two generations.

Great Britain is the one and only country we may expect to lead the world.

We know that it will mean no common hardships on European countries, but also for the whole American continent and Japan, should the conference fulfil what has been advocated by Lord Beverbrook.

But we know that after the seven years of famine there will follow umpteen years of abundance also for us outside the Empire.

When there will be no barriers between the members of the Empire, the tariff walls in Europe, sky-high and still growing, will have to go as the walls of Jericho.

But before that England must get rich, as rich as in pre-war times when the squire and the tenant, Manchester and the North Country were living happily.

England of to-day is poor. A bold statement, but where in the world can you see such obsolete factories with four-cornered chimneys and decrepit sheds; the slums of London are unsurpassed in the whole world, and there is no capital in the world where you can see the out-of-date horse-drawn vans of the English railways you meet in the narrow thoroughfares of the City, obstructing the traffic.

The widow of the English doctor must keep a boarding-house or else she would starve, and there are untold struggles unknown and unheard of in other countries.

But the Civic Britannicus of the Green Islands has character and stamina. So you British must look ahead. There should be no dilly-dallying in Ottawa, and by cementing the Empire we shall profit too. And mind you, we cannot wait too long.

SOME TENNIS MEMORIES.

THE ONLY ENGLISHMAN WHO BEAT TILDEN.

MISHU'S FREAK SHOTS.

It is surprising to note how often
a player, with the match apparently in his pocket, will suddenly and for no apparent reason lose control
of the ball and with it the match.
There was for instance that match between Tilden and Cochet in which the American led by two sets to 0 and 5 games to 1, only to lose in the end.

One remembers a remarkable
game at Wimbledon between Mishu,
the Rumanian, and L. A. Godfree.
Mishu had a great mastery over the ball not only in the matter of ordinary return but in the demonstration of freak returns and the uses to which spin could be put.
For two sets he had Godfree (better in doubles than singles) completely at sea, and Mishu was greatly enjoying himself, for he loved arousing the crowd to mystified exclamation as the reward of some freak shot. He would serve so that the ball swerved round the side
post, he brought off half-volleys as winners when that stroke was only giving another hostage to fortune,
since an ordinary drive would have paid as well. (At his best he liked to take the ball so early that his drive became an overgrown half-volley.) Finally, he resorted to his well-known service, which he executed with his back to the net, the ball falling into the proper court,
but, of course, with no severity.
Said one bored linesman to another
as the men changed sides: "Why
on earth put such a one-sided match
on the show court?" "Why, indeed!" was the reply. And then the strange thing happened: so long had Mishu indulged in freak and trick shots that when at last he decided to play the more orthodox game he found that he had forgotten the way. And, worse than that, he found himself equally unable to return to those dazzling
fancy shots which had delighted the crowd. It was Godfree who won, and a very surprised Godfree,
as for Mishu, better to forget how
he looked and what he said.

Now Peters beat Tilden.

E.C. Peters has the proud distinction of being the only Englishman who has beaten Tilden. It happened in this way.

Peters, as is well known, plays an exasperating game. He has a poor service and no drive in the usual sense of a fast, low-flying shot; instead he sends over
"loopy" returns, high, slow drops
to the baseline, "poached eggs,"
as they are called. His backhand is sound and he is a good volleyer.
The match was played on a fiery
and dusty court at the Carlton
Club in Cannes. In the first set Tilden played carelessly, as though Peters was unworthy of serious effort. Peters industriously attacked Tilden's uncertain backhand and soon led 4-1. Then Tilden roused himself, took four games
running, faltered, lost his control of the ball, made mistakes on his backhand—and Peters won the first set. The second began with Tilden's service, but so annoyed was he with the course of events, that he refused to serve—that is, he did not serve to Peters, but instead bounced the balls gently on the ground eight times, thus forfeiting
a love game, and crossed over. In vain he tried to recapture his great game, it had gone, and Peters won his resounding victory. Afterwards
the two met again on the Riviera
and Tilden won but it took him five sets; he seemed particularly to dislike Peters' style of tennis.

The Pride of Power.

Menzel, the Czech-Slovakian
champion in well over six feet tall,
has a small head and a big frame,
and is primarily a net stonemason,
an effective volleyer with a great reach.
His service is an "American," and
he used to be prone to foot-faulting.
Recently he achieved fame by beating Perry in Paris after the latter had had an easy kill for the match.
Menzel is the sort of player who may well beat the best if the best is below par. But he once had a daunting experience against Morpurgo, who was for long the "king" of Italian tennis. It occurred a

LAWN BOWLS LEAGUE RESULTS.

CRAIGENGOWER SENIORS GO DOWN TO RECREIO: JUNIORS SUCCESSFUL.

KOWLOON BOWLING GREEN AT BOTTOM OF LEAGUE.

Craigengower, in the absence of their three interport players, U. M. Omar, G. L. Buchanan and B. N. Bradbury, had again to acknowledge defeat in the Senior Division of the Lawn Bowls League on Saturday when they went down before the Club de Recreio by a margin of 23 shots. Their second team, however, were successful in accounting for the Recreio junior team by 7 shots.

The match to have been played between Kowloon Docks and Civil Service C.C. did not take place, and has been postponed to a later date.

During mid-week, the Police R.C. ran their opponents, Kowloon C.C., to a very close finish, being just beaten by the small margin of 2 shots.

The defeat of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club at the hands of the Taikoo R.C. left them at the bottom of the League, two points behind the Police.

CAMPAIGN*GENERAL MA CHAN SHAN'S
COMMUNIQUEPeiping, Sept. 3.—General Ma
Chan-shan, Chairman of the Heilungkiang Provincial Government, has re-established contact with the Government authorities here and has sent a long radio message to Peiping reporting on his encounters with the Japanese during the past two months.Traversing the Hulan-Hailun Railway at the end of June, General Ma led his units towards Sui-tong, Tungshing and Chingcheng.
Simultaneously, he ordered Major General Teng Wen and Commander Nan Ting Fang of the Volunteers to attack Ketung, Tungpei
and Teta north of the Hulan-Hailun Railway. The following is a summary of the various battles fought since then.On July 7, our troops clashed with 900 Japanese soldiers at Tung-shing. The enemy were assisted by six airplanes. Seven fighting raved throughout the day, resulting in the retreat of the enemy in the evening.600 Japanese soldiers, equipped with four trench motors surrounded our 7th company at Chingchiao on July 22nd. On learning of this, General Ma personally led his guards to rescue and break the siege. The enemy left behind 30 killed.Three days later, when our troops were crossing the Yangyung
Ho (River), two Japanese airplanes and 500 infantry units assailed our forces in the rear. After several hours of bitter fighting,
one Japanese airplane was shot down and their infantry units were repulsed.On July 27th, General Wu Sung Lin fought a 7-hour battle against 400 Japanese at Wangyungmiao.
After losing several scores of their men, the Japanese effected a withdrawal in the evening.The next afternoon, units of Colonel Chang and Major Li undertook and killed 40 Japanese at Shihchichin.Gen. Ma Wounded.Arriving subsequently at Yachuanpian, General Ma was surrounded by more than 1,000 Japanese infantry, cavalry and artillery units in the vicinity of a large thicket. Stiff resistance was put up against the Japanese. After a 12-hour bloody engagement, General Ma and his men succeeded in breaking through the enemy cordon. Both sides suffered heavy casualties. General Ma was wounded by a stray bullet on his face, from which he has now recovered.On arrival at Pataohotse on August 15th, General Ma and his followers were again attacked by 6 Japanese airplanes and 500 infantry. The Japanese were put to flight after more than 100 were killed.Tungpei, north of Hailun, was captured on August 14th.
According to a report from Commander Ma Ting Fang, the city of Tetu was captured by our troops on Aug. 20.In conclusion, General Ma points out that although the Heilungkiang troops failed to exterminate the enemy, the various battles and stiff resistance put up by them have certainly astonished the Japanese.The Chinese were handicapped by the lack of anti-aircraft equipment. Despite inferior weapons, the morale of the Chinese soldiers and volunteers was excellent.A general counter-attack will be launched as soon as reorganization has been completed.—Kuo Min.SUPPRESSION OF BANDITSHankow, Sept. 3.—A joint campaign for the suppression of the bandits under the notorious Kung Ho Chung will be launched by the combined Hupei, Huian and Kiangsi forces as soon as General
Ho Cheng Chun, Field-Commander of the Left Wing Bandit-suppression forces, completes his preparations.The Szechuan Division under General Fan Shao Tseng scored a victory over the brigands in the Hung Hu (lake) region when Ho Lung, the bandit leader, leading four "Red" regiments, was attacked by the Government units at Tai-hotaang and Hainchoen. A large portion of the brigands was dispersed while Ho Lung escaped with the remnant outlaws to Shayang.Chuchiawan and Liunchiachi, two other strategic points in the Hung Hu (lake) region, have been besieved by the Government troops and are expected to fall within a few days.—Kuo Min.GENERAL HSIUNG
IMPEACHED*CHIEF OF KIANGSI
GOVERNMENTNanking, Sept. 3.—The Control
Yuan has brought up an impeachment against General Hsiung Shih Hui, Chairman of the Kiangsi Provincial Government, for unauthorized imposition of a so-called "production and distribution tax" as well as unauthorized modification of the local government system in Kiang-si.The proposal for impeachment was initiated by Mr. Chow Lien Sen, member of the Control Yuan, and subsequently upheld by a special Committee of three.In his petition, member Chow points out that by a Mandate issued on January 1, 1931, the National Government ordered likin and all other taxes and levies of a similar nature to be abolished throughout the country. In view of the possibility that, owing to financial difficulties, the local authorities might fail to carry out the order, the National Government and the Executive Yuan has, by subsequent orders and instructions,
made officials guilty of ignoring the order liable to severe punishment.Despite all such repeated injunctions, the Kiangsi Provincial Government has instituted and collected a tax, known as "production and distribution tax, which is of a nature similar to likin. Recent orders from the Executive Yuan and the Ministry of Finance calling for the abolition of this unauthorized tax have also been ignored by General Hsiung with impunity.Second Charge.The second charge made by the Control Yuan is that General
Hsiung has altered, without due authorization from the Central Government, the system of local government administration in Kiangsi.It is contended that according to the "Outlines of National Reconstruction" as well as laws promulgated by the National Government, there should be no intermediate organs between the provincial and the district (hsien) governments.General Hsiung, it is alleged, has however divided the whole province into 13 so-called "administrative districts," to each of which a Commissioner is appointed, invested with powers of control and supervision over the district (hsien) governments. While such an innovation might be justifiable on practical grounds, General Hsiung should, however, have consulted the Central Government.Moreover, as these so-called commissioners are given the rank of Taishan (second rank), they must be appointed direct by the Central Government. General Hsiung, it is alleged, has however appointed and removed such officials without in any way consulting the General Government, whose authority is thus openly flouted."Has General Hsiung become the King of Kiangsi? If not, what right has he to appoint officials of the second rank at his own discretion?" the petition asks.Other Charges.Besides these two major offences, the Control Yuan also charges General Hsiung with other misdemeanors such as, the unauthorized increase of the rate of salt surtax
and imposition of an "export duty"
on rice and wheat.General Hsiung, it will be remembered, was formerly Gendarmerie Commander for the Shanghai Woosung Area. It is also significant to note that Kiangsi is generally considered one of the provinces which owe more than nominal allegiance to the Central Government. The impeachment of General Hsiung Shih Hui would appear therefore to be in line with the policy recently enunciated by Mr.
Wang Ching Wei of bringing these provinces under more centralized
control.—Kuo Min.LYTTON COMMISSION
REPORT*DR. KOO MAKES
STATEMENT TO PRESSNanking, Sept. 3.—Confidence that the report of the Lytton Commission of Inquiry would uphold the cause of right and justice was expressed by Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese assessor to the Commission, in the course of a press interview following his arrival here from Peiping.Dr. Koo pointed out that as the Commission is responsible only to the Council of the League of Nations, neither of the parties to the dispute would be informed of the contents of the report until it shall have been submitted to the Council. Although he could not furnish any information regarding the report, he had absolutely no doubt that it is based on the principle of right and justice, for which the League of Nations has consistently stood.Continuing, Dr. Koo said that as the report had to be printed and distributed to the various members of the Council, it is not expected that it would be brought up for discussion before the middle of October.Amicable Settlement?Dr. Koo was hopeful that the League of Nations would find some amicable means of settling the present controversy between China and Japan. The success of any such measure would however depend upon whether Japan would change its present intransigent
attitude and conform to the resolutions of the League. As the Nine-Power Treaty, according to Dr. Koo, was also designed toKAIPING COAL

maintain peace in the Far East, convocation of a Nine-Power conference is one of the possible
means of settling the Sino-Japanese imbroglio. Whether there will be any necessity for such a conference would depend however upon the outcome of the forthcoming
League Assembly.Regarding the threatened Japanese recognition of the puppet Man-chukuo, Dr. Koo pointed out that such an act would constitute a flagrant violation of the Nine-Power Treaty and the elementary principles of international law.
He expressed confidence that Japan's position in Manchuria brought about by such unlawful means would not be recognized by other Powers.Upon being questioned, Dr. Koo scouted rumours of alleged Russo-Japanese or Franco-Japanese alli-ances. He said that these rumours have apparently been inspired by the Japanese themselves for obvious motives.Jehol Situation.Regarding the Jehol situation, Dr. Koo said that although the situation is quiet now, grave developments might be expected at any moment. The Japanese having made no secret of their intention to include Jehol as part of the puppet Manchukuo state. Dr. Koo pointed out that in recent Japanese maps, Jehol is painted as part of Manchuria which is described as the "Four Eastern Provinces."

middle of his supper Cat stopped.
He lifted his head with a puzzled look. He straightened up slowly and sat for a moment staring at the side of the milk shed."Well," he said, "that's most amazing! See here, Dish, I thought you were white when I started drinking my milk. And now, look at you—you're as pink as a hollyhock. Whatever is the matter?""I think it must be that I am blushing again," explained Dish.
"Blushing?" repeated Cat. "Blushing? What for, pray?""Oh, sir, you know they have been saying for years and years
that I ran away with the spoon,
and every time I think of it I blush with shame. I didn't run else. I just didn't, that's all!"

Cat looked sober."I know, I know," he said. "It really is too bad. But have you forgotten what they say about me?
'Hey, diddle, diddle, the Cat and the fiddle.' Fiddle, indeed! Why,
I have a positive dislike for fiddles.
I have musical tastes, I admit, but my work is all with the voice."Just at that minute Cow put her head over the meadow bars."My dear friends," said she,
"you have been badly treated, but consider my case. The cow jumped over the moon. 'Did you ever,

who sat beside the pump, listening.
"Jumping is not your business,
that's all. But do I fancy any bet-

to a great deal of ridicule by reason of their bagginess. Few people trouble to think, why they are naturally have so much to do with water that it is almost to be wondered that for working purposes

they are not supplied with knee-breeches, in which they would be able to paddle about without danger of damaging the leg portion of their nether garments. As this innovation has not taken place the trousers are made very baggy, so that they can be easily turned up well above the knee when work in the water has to be done. Were they provided with trousers of the same width all the way down the leg they would find it difficult to turn them up far enough, without,
at the same time, impeding their actions, owing to the compression
that would be caused.DO YOU KNOW?Do you know two French

ORGAN DEDICATION AT ST. ANDREW'S

DEAN SWANN ON THE INFLUENCE OF MUSIC.

At the dedication service yesterday of the reconstructed organ in St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, the Very Reverend Dean A. A. Swann M.A., D.S.C., in the course of an eloquent plea for better and nobler music gave a few practical suggestions about Parish church music.

The Dean said—I am definitely of the opinion that for Parish, churches congregational music should be ideal. The choir and organ should lead the congregation; if that is so, the service becomes a corporate act of worship, otherwise it becomes just an act of entertainment.

The Dean went on to say that it was impossible to over-estimate the part played by the influence of music over us. In this respect, it was interesting to remember what a great bond music was between Christian people. In all churches, such hymns as "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past" could be sung by everyone and be appreciated. There was no group of Christians who could sing such hymns and not feel the strong appeal of them.

Music was Best Available.

Music was so powerful and universal that it must be the best available. It was impossible to spend too much trouble over the selection of it. The organ and the choir were here to lead towards God, and no member of the congregation should sing for his own glory but for the glory of God. Further, the choice of music must minister to worship. There must be no vanity in our music; unless it is of real service to us, it is empty.

But we have at our disposal today, a great wealth of music which is strong and inspiring. It was the grand, uplifting music that was to be desired in our churches.

The Service.

There was a large congregation and in addition to the Dean, The Rev. W. Walton Rogers, Vicar of St. Andrew's, and Mr. J. H. Hunt, O.B.E., Lay Reader, took part in the service.

Special psalms and hymns were rendered by the organist and choir for the service, with a particularly fine rendering of the Te Deum Laudamus set to the music of Sir Charles Stanford. The soloist for the Anthem "O come, let us Worship" was Mr. J. W. Baldwin and Mr. Rupert Baldwin was at the organ. At the evening service the Rev. N. L. Watkins was the preacher.

Mr. Watkins is shortly leaving the colony, and his taking part in the service at St. Andrew's last night signified his last official visit to this church.

History of the Organ.

No organ was installed in the church at its opening in 1908, and at first a harmonium was hired. In 1907 an American organ was purchased for the sum of $175, and this instrument was used until 1911.

In January, 1910, the Church Vestry decided to open an Organ fund with a view to securing an organ worthy of the church. It was estimated that the sum required would be about $5,000, and at the Vestry meeting held in March, 1910, it was announced that this sum had been raised. Tenders were invited from three English firms, and that of Messrs. J. W. Walker and Sons was accepted.

The organ was built in England under the supervision of Mr. B. L. Frost, a member of the Vestry, who went on furlough to England at that time. Upon completion, it was dismantled, packed and shipped to Kowloon. The P. and O. Steamship Company were good enough to undertake the carriage, free of charge. Upon arrival in the colony, it was erected in St. Andrew's Church by Mr. Tsang Fook, assisted by Messrs. Frost, Duncan and Chapman.

This organ was dedicated on June 24, 1911 by Right Rev. G. H. Lander, D.D., Bishop of Victoria.

Reconstruction Planned.

In January, 1931, the Church council decided that steps should be taken to remedy certain defects, and to mark the fact of 1931 being the 25th anniversary of the consecration of the Church, it was agreed that the organ should be enlarged and reconstructed with tubular-pneumatic action. Accordingly, a fund was opened in March, (Continued on next column.)

DISTRICT WATCH-MAN KILLED

IN REVOLVER DUEL WITH COLLEAGUE.

WOMAN BELIEVED TO BE THE CAUSE.

As the result of a "revolver duel" between two district watchmen outside the No. 7 Police Station shortly after midnight on Saturday, District watchman No. 60 (Lai Chuen) was killed while the other "duellist" Shui Kon Chui (No. 99) is lying in the Government Civil Hospital with a gunshot wound in the arm. Enquiries made at the hospital last night elicited the news that his condition is not regarded as serious and that he will very probably be discharged in a few days. Lai Chuen (the deceased), was shot through the abdomen, the bullet perforating the stomach and the liver and despite all that medical science could do for him, he succumbed to his injuries shortly after admission to the hospital.

A Woman in It?

It appears that one of the men was just going on duty while the other was just going to report off. They, therefore, were both armed and as they passed each other near the entrance to the station, they stopped and had a short conversation which was followed by two reports. Officers rushing to the scene, found the men lying on the ground and they were both removed to the hospital. Details of the affair are rather scanty, but our representative learned that from a deposition taken from Lai Chuen just before he died, it was gathered that there is a woman concerned in the affair.

The men were both living at 179, First Street, where all District Watchmen attached to the No. 7 Station are quartered and though it is not known if the men had any quarrel before Saturday night, it was a known fact that they were not on friendly terms.

THE LATE MR. C. NEAVE.

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY.

The funeral of Mr. Cecil Neave, who passed away at the French Hospital on Friday night, took place at the Protestant Cemetery, Happy Valley, on Saturday evening, in the presence of a large gathering. The Rev. Dr. E. L. Allen, Pastor of the Union Church, Kowloon, conducted the burial rites.

Those present at the graveside included Mr. E. Cock, M.B.E., Acting Chief Manager of the Kowloon Dock, Mr. D. Gow, Chief Clerk, and many other members of the staff.

There was a profusion of floral tributes.

And Mr. W. C. Blackett, the builder of several organs in the colony, including that in St. John's Cathedral, was asked to draw up a scheme for rebuilding the instrument.

The work was put in hand in June, 1931, and from December, 1931, till June, 1932, the organ was out of action, and a piano and a small organ (the latter kindly lent by the Victoria Home), were installed in the choir. The completed instrument is a tribute to the skill and experience of Mr. Blackett.

The required sum, $7,500, was completely raised by October, 1931, thanks to the generosity of the many subscribers to the fund, and to the energies of many kind friends who arranged money-raising functions throughout the year.

No Floor Space Lost.

A feature of the work is the fact that although the organ has been considerably enlarged, there has been no encroachment on the floor space of the church or vestry. This has been made possible by the placing of the Choir organ over the passage from the Clergy Vestry into the church, and the raising of the pedal Bourdon pipes to an overhead position in the Vestry to make room for the new Pedal Open Diapason. The Great organ has been projected forward and upwards on a cove, improving the appearance of the organ front.

IN CANTON.

WHAT THE CITY IS REALLY LIKE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, Sept. 10.

My Dear Herbert, Here I am again, after having kept my peace for one whole week. Believe me, old boy, it was hard for over here one could write pages every day and yet not feel tired with it. But I could not drop you a line since you made me promise not to bore you more than once a week. However, we'll let it go at that.

I've learnt quite a lot about this city by this time and up to date I have made two visits to the "old Canton" quarters—my first and my last. I had to walk through streets no wider than the lane which leads from Queen's Road Central to Des Vaux Road. I mean the one which separates Exchange Building from Powell Building and where you always find a beggar or two. There is nothing really picturesque about the Chinese city though the Guide Books will tell you that you must not miss this place, and that such and such a place is famous for so and so. As far as I could make out they are all famous for the same thing—and perhaps you'd better visit yourself to find out what I mean.

By the way, do you remember what I told you about the motor-car drivers and the way they keep sounding their horns? Well, let me tell you something about the way traffic is regulated by the policemen on point duty. The bus drivers are the chief offenders of what I am going to tell you.

As you perhaps know, the roads here are none too wide and it seems to me that the "Road Office" people are very energetic for the places seem to be under repair all the time. The result is that half the road is blocked up. But does that have any effect on the traffic? No, sir! If a bus is (Continued on next column.)

FUNG MURDER CASE.

JUDGMENT TO BE GIVEN THIS MORNING.

The decision of the Full Court on the reserved points of law in the Village Road Murder Trial will be delivered this morning at 10 a.m. The judgment, which is a lengthy one, will be read by the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, K.C. Accused's counsel, Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., will not attend the Court as they are both absent from the Colony. Cheng Kwok Yau, the prisoner, was found guilty of procuring the murder of George Fung, at Village Road, on the night of March 24 this year. An appeal on certain points of law was sought and counsel for the defence argued to upset the judgment.

coming along and his side of the road is under repair, the bus driver just swerves over to the right side (which is probably the wrong side) irrespective of whether there is any traffic coming from the other direction. And talking about getting fined in Hong Kong just because your rear light is not working! Why, you can drive a car the whole length of a maloo here and nobody would take the slightest notice of you.

There is one more thing I want to tell you before I ring off and that's about the way the police in the City conduct a search for a "shady" customer. I happened to be near the British Bridge two nights ago when I saw a crowd suddenly running away. Out of sheer inquisitiveness I went up to see what was the matter and the sight that greeted my eyes made my knees knock together.

There were about 10 policemen holding up a bus while two were searching the passengers. The others had their rifles to their shoulders, at the "present" position. But dash it all, they were looking anywhere but the direction to which they were pointing their guns! I soon made myself scarce. Cheerio.

HONG KONG, SEPTEMBER 12, 1932.

THE PASSING OF OLD SPAIN.

It was not to be expected that the Revolution in Spain would leave the ancient nobility unscathed. A great landowning aristocracy, exclusive and feudal, is a logical anomaly in a Republic, and must inevitably present a standing challenge to democratic Government. It was too powerful and too steeped in tradition to adapt itself to the new conditions. To expect the grandees of Spain to become good democrats would be asking the impossible, and nothing less would be essential if they were to stay. Revolution is a rough process, but less rough than war. Artillery destroys both castle and owner, but a revolution often spares the former and sometimes allows the latter to retire into dignified exile. Revolutions arise when a nation lags behind its neighbours. In France, a century-and-a-half ago, neither the enlightened aristocratic government of England, nor the efficient despotism of Prussia had been evolved. The Court was self-indulgent, incompetent and intensely jealous of its power and privileges. The same causes, hastened by a disastrous war, were at work in Russia in 1917. In Spain, the process has been slower and the dictatorship of Alfonso and Primo de Rivera stemmed the tide. But Alfonso and his great Minister could neither awaken the old nobility as did the Meiji Emperor in Japan, nor could they win the confidence of the politicians. Either through personal failings—for Alfonso despite all his bonhomie could never forget his Bourbon-Hapsburg descent—or because the situation was impossibly difficult, the Spanish Dictatorship failed to emulate Japan of yesterday or Mussolini and Victor Emmanuel of to-day. The charge against the Spanish nobility is that it failed to improve the position of the peasants. This is probably true. The grandees certainly showed political lethargy, neither standing four-square behind the King nor throwing in their lot with the democratic movement and attempting to guide, train and co-operate with its leaders. Those who were wealthy enough to make improvements in the countryside preferred to carry on in the old way—for themselves a way of comfort and dignity—while many were genuinely too poor to do much, especially in view of the demands made by their position. They hoped to jog along and to survive as the British Crown and nobility have survived. In England however there has been no revolution because the landowners have always been a useful factor in the countryside. They have had no particular privileges and have therefore had to face reality or accept penury and extinction. The old families have won through because they were always willing and able to accept changes and to put new money into the land, money obtained thanks to the traditional association between the trading and aristocratic classes, and, in later times, by marriage with American heiresses. It is no use either applauding or regretting the inevitable course of events in Spain. The Spanish nobility was both psychologically and economically unable to pursue a policy that would have secured their survival in the world of to-day. Their last folly was a feeble attempt at monarchist restoration, doomed to failure because begun without a vestige of staff work, but sufficient to rouse the ire of their enemies. In our somewhat drab and commercialised world we may regret the passing of Old Spain and the superseding of a gallant King and a nobility with great traditions by politicians, with the usual faults of their kind. No doubt the ministry of former conspirators, agitators and idealists, most of whom have seen prison bars from the wrong side, will muddle along for a time, and in the end a new race of officials and parliamentarians will evolve from the small landowners, the merchants and the professional classes of Spain. Spain will continue to be, like France, a nation of traders and tillers of the soil, frugal and industrious, Roman Catholic in religion, conservative in their family life. Castles in Spain, like the Pope's Palace at Avignon, will become tourist attractions, served by roads and carriages, and thus progress will be vindicated.

The Ideal Wife.

A contest is being organised in Hungary to find the ideal wife. Candidates will be examined in cooking, needlework, domestic science, foreign languages, and general knowledge, and will also be required to write short essays on nursing, music, dancing, and the duties of a hostess towards her guests. We suggest that polygamy is the best road to realising this new ideal.

pulled and pushed, struggling to get her in or out. Finally, a police-sergeant arrived, opened the opposite door and managed to pull her inside, completely exhausted.

First Steps in Shaw.

Russian translations of works by Mr. Bernard Shaw, shortly to be published by the Soviet States Publishing House of Artistic Literature, are to have a preface by M. Lunacharsky, the former Minister of Fine Arts. They are bold people these Russians. No Briton has yet had the courage to suggest that anyone but Mr. Shaw should write Mr. Shaw's preface.

It Costs Nothing!

Polite request in the "personal column" of a London paper:—Will the gentleman who July 1st on omnibus in the Strand relieved me of my Pocket-Book containing Letter of Credit and Passport return same to Anglo-South American Bank? Agencies advised throughout. And yet not too polite, for the worldly wisdom of the last sentence seems to indicate a passing doubt as to the complete gentleness of the thief. Of course, the touch of politeness may only have been the preliminary "Good old Towser" with which one seeks to disarm a potentially hostile dog. Sometimes it succeeds, but it is always as well to have the big stick at hand.

A 2400-a-Week Look.

Fedor Chalapin, the famous singer, who is about to appear in his first film—a version of "Don Quixote"—has discovered in George Robey a man whose face is worth £400 a week. Chalapin, his manager told me, could not find a suitable Sancho Panza. One night recently he attended a cinema and in a picture he saw the face of George Robey. "That is the face we want," he cried gleefully, and an offer of £400 a week, so I am told, has been sent to the comedian, who is at present in Edinburgh.

Mussolini's Hold Up.

The story of Mussolini being held by his own police for excessive motor speeding is amusing. But the incident did not happen in Rome.

It is, of course, a matter of common knowledge that the Fascist leader is fond of swift driving. He has always had a penchant in this direction. But he is most particular in regard to traffic rules in the city of Rome, and these apply not only to vehicles but also to pedestrians.

Pedestrians Well Controlled!

In certain parts of the Corso Umberto pedestrians are only allowed to progress in a certain direction on the one side of the street. Moreover, such a thing as jay walking is visited with a heavy and immediate fine, collected by the police on the spot. The same applies to the driver of any car who exceeds slightly more than a walking pace. There is good justification for some of these regulations, for the streets of Rome are narrow, tortuous, and ill-paved, and any ordinary vehicular traffic rate would soon be attended by very great mortality.

New Merchant Tailors.

Astonishing progress is being made with the new Merchant Tailors' School at Moor Park. The foundation stone was laid by the Duchess of York little more than a year ago, yet the transference from Charterhouse-square, E.C., is expected to take place after the next Easter vacation.

Few people are aware what a magnificent range of brick buildings—a little severe, perhaps, in design, but eminently workmanlike—has already risen in the level fields by the side of the Colne.

But the buildings stir the enthusiasm of all educationists who visit them.

Cricketers Visit the Fleet.

A number of English cricketers are leaving London in September to spend a short holiday with the Fleet. Among them will be Lord Tennyson and Mr. J. C. W. MacBrynn, who was at one time the chief adornment of the batting of Somerset.

They are going out as guests of the ships stationed at Gibraltar, and will live on board. They are to play one or two matches, and will make excursions ashore.

Some time ago there was a similar visit of English amateur cricketers to the Fleet at Malta. They played representative games, and came home refreshed in their ideas of naval hospitality and Mediterranean scenery.

It is interesting to note the presence in the team of Mr. MacBrynn. For quite a long time he was one of our most promising amateurs, and headed the amateur averages. It is certain that if he had not undergone the great hardships of several years imprisonment in German prison camps he would have figured among the Test teams just after the war.

At the moment, like many other cricketers, he is a member of the Stock Exchange.

It is notified that on and after January 1, 1933, the fees at the Vernacular Middle School will be at the following rates:—Middle School Division, $98 per annum; Primary Division, $72 per annum; Normal Division, $54 per annum.

Richigoro Kishimoto, aged 72, living at Niihama-mura, Ehime Prefecture Japan, stabbed his neighbour's eldest daughter with a kitchen knife, inflicting a critical injury, and himself attempted to commit suicide. Examination revealed that the old man has repeatedly approached the girl, but his advances were rejected.

Mr. Rupert Baldwin, A.T.O.L. organist of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, is to give a recital on the newly re-constructed organ at 7 p.m. this evening. It is expected that a large number of parishioners and others will be present. Mr. J. Baldwin, Mr. F. Dunn and Mr. H. Best are to assist Mr. Baldwin in the rendering of sacred songs.

Over 30 people were injured eight critically, when a boat broke out on board the fishing boat Empukumar, 70 tons, belonging to a Shidzuoka concern. The vessel was lying at anchor at the Mihodzuoka Dockyard near Shimidzu, to undergo repairs, when gas was used to get rid of vermin. The oil tank exploded, followed by the total destruction of the vessel.

A box containing pearls, eight pieces of silver, 213 pieces of jewellery and cash amounting $1,185, to a total value of $4,635, was the haul of Kwok Chan, a ship's assistant, who was arrested by police on Saturday night. He was found with all the property in his possession. The valuables, owned by Ku Lu Chi, were taken from No. 1, Lyndhurst Terrace.

Banished five years ago, and arrested on August 24 for returning five years before his sentence was completed, Ng King Fu, an alleged Communist, was given the maximum penalty of 12 months imprisonment in Central Police Court on Saturday. When the defendant was arrested he was found to possess certain documents that proved he was an agent in some political affair.

The theft of a combination mirror and clock from private car No. 1092, was reported to the Police by Mr. E. Edgar, of the American Consulate, on Saturday. Mr. Edgar stated that he left his car at the parking stand in Connaught Road, near Queen's Pier, at 1 p.m., and when he returned at 4 p.m., he discovered the loss. The value of the stolen article is about $100.

Mr. A. E. Hall appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court on Saturday on behalf of Lok He Mow who had been charged with the theft of a camera valued at $30, and for Chung Chee Fun, alleged for stealing a quantity of suit cloth, the property of the Wing On Company. Both cases were put over until Wednesday afternoon, Bail, $500 and $100 respectively, was given the defendants.

In Okayama Prefecture, Japan, Goshimuro Miyake, living at Ohe-mura, visited Tohei Miyakeuchi in the same village and stabbed him and his wife with a sword, inflicting them critically. He also stabbed three neighbours who rushed to the scene, inflicting serious injuries. Frantic at the sight of blood, he was still fighting when he was arrested by the Tanshima police. Miyake refused a loan of Y3, which made him murderous.

NEW SCOUT TROOP FORMED.

DIOCESAN BOYS' SCHOOL TROOP.

The Diocesan Boys School is adding another activity to its already full schedule of work and sport. Mr. Sargent, the new and energetic Head of the D.B.S., is, with the beginning of the new term, starting a school scout troop to be known as the 1st. Diocesan Boys' School Troop. Hitherto students at the D.B.S. have had to be content with being members of the different troops in Hong Kong and the mainland. The news that they are to have their own troop attached to the school has therefore been received with joy.

Mr. Sargent is to take on the duties of scoutmaster, and having done similar work at home, coupled with his knowledge of teaching and the handling of boys, the troop is bound to succeed.

Mr. E. Cock, M.B.E., a member of the school committee, has kindly accepted the office of President of the new troop. The 1st. Diocesan Boys' School Troop will be known in official scout records as the 6th Kowloon.

DETENUS ON THE DOLE

368 IN RECEIPT OF GOVERNMENT ALLOWANCES.

Calcutta, August 10.—Details in regard to the allowances paid to the families of detenues were given in the Bengal Legislative Council yesterday.

In reply to a question by Mr. S. P. Mukherjee, the Hon. Mr. R. N. Reid said 368 detenues were given allowances for the maintenance of their families either by the Government of India or by the Bengal Government.

Of these, said Mr. Reid, two received Rs. 1,000 a month or over, and one of the men Rs. 150 or over but less than Rs. 250.

The remainder, Mr. Reid added, were each paid less than Rs. 150 a month.

FLOODS DESTROY FARM LANDS.

N.Z. CATTLE-RAISERS IN SORRY FLIGHT.

Wellington, Sept. 1.—Farmers in the Wairapa district in North Island are in a serious plight, as a result of the severe killing of hundreds of cattle, sheep and lambs.

Although the floods are now subsiding, the pastures in many places are covered with silt to a depth of eighteen inches, making it impossible to work the farms this year. During the height of the flood floating trees became entangled with telegraph wires and had to be cleared by men linked together by ropes. One station owner lost a hundred bullocks, the carcasses of which he found piled up in heaps among the wreckage of broken fences. Some bullocks were even hanging from trees.

Copenhagen, Sept. 10. IT is officially announced that the Prince of Wales is arriving on September 24, to open the British Industrial Exhibition. He will be the guest of King Christian in Royal Palace.

AFTER-CARE OF TUBERCULAR PATIENTS

TRIBUTE TO SIR P. VALLIER JONES

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Sept. 10. TRIBUTES were paid at the Conference of International Union Against Tuberculosis at the Hague, yesterday, to the work of Sir P. Vallier Jones, founder and medical director of Papworth Village Settlement, Cambridge-shire, for the after care of tuberculous patients.

In a paper contributed by Sir Vallier Jones, he declared that the village settlement was essential in the interests of public health. Papworth had succeeded because he had made use of the business acumen, industry and skill of the patients who had solved their own economic problem.

The importance attached to the after-care was demonstrated by the fact that the International Committee, over which he will preside, is to study, collate, and coordinate methods employed all over the world.

JIMMY WAKER "SHANGHAIED"

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

New York, Sept. 10. "I AM being Shanghaied by a medical man," declared Mr. Jimmy Waker, ex-Mayor of New York, who sailed for Europe by the Italian liner Conte Grande. It is learned he is making the "round trip" to Europe and return for the sake of his health.

PRINCE GEORGE IN SCOTLAND

TOUR OF FACTORIES AND WORKS

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Sept. 9. PRINCE GEORGE, who returned from Biarritz by air yesterday, left by night train for Scotland. He arrived at Aberdeen this morning, where he made a private tour of factories and works, and later proceeded to Balmoral, where the King and Queen are in residence.

The Secretary for India, Sir Samuel Hoare, who will be the guest of Their Majesties for a few days will fly to Balmoral from his home in Norfolk on Monday.

BRITONS SLAIN IN NICARAGUA

GOVERNMENT MAKES REPRESENTATIONS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, Sept. 8. AN announcement has been made that the British Government is making representations to Managua regarding the murder of British subjects in Nicaragua by bandits. This development serves to recall that eleven British subjects have been murdered there since April, 1931.

SPANISH GRANDEES RUINED

HOME RULE GIVEN TO CATALONIA

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

MADRID, Sept. 9. MANY of the wealthiest grandees of Spain have been reduced to penury by the legislation approved by the Cortes amid scenes of almost wild enthusiasm in the last two days.

The Cortes to-day finally disposed of the two most important measures of the session, passing the Catalan Statute which gives Catalonia a wide measure of long-sought Home Rule and also disposing of the Expropriation Bill.

The latter Bill provides for the expropriation of the property of the nobility and most of Spain's three hundred grandees will be ruined.

The biggest victim of the wholesale seizure is the Duke of Madrid.

The Duke was recently deprived of thirty villages for his share in a Monarchist plot and he now loses, under the new Bill, over 125,000 acres of land. He is now almost penniless.

The deputies rose in the Cortes and cheered the double event like schoolboys breaking up for a holiday, which in fact they were actually doing after four months of intense labour.

SPAIN STOPS "RED" DEMONSTRATION

AUTHORITIES FEAR ANOTHER EXTREMIST RISING

Madrid, Sept. 5.—Serious measures of precaution taken by the Spanish authorities, who fear another extremist outbreak here.

The Police refused the communists the solicited permission to hold a meeting in one of the large cinemas in the centre of the capital. Trucks with armed civil guards, are patrolling the district where the demonstration was planned.

Several clashes have occurred between the demonstrators and the police, but nobody was seriously injured. Absolute calm is reigning in Madrid.

DEPORTED SPANISH MONARCHISTS

FLEET OF SHIPS HELD READY TO TRANSPORT THEM

Madrid, Sept. 5.—It is rumoured here that the first group of monarchists sentenced to deportation will leave Madrid this morning.

Three motor trucks are said to be held ready for this purpose by the authorities in the yard of the gaol, where the convicts have been confined. Each of the trucks would carry 30 prisoners to Alcazar San Juan, whence a special train will take them to Cadiz.

It will be recalled that a whole flotilla of ships is waiting in the port of Cadiz to take on board the convicts.

RECENT RIOTS IN SPAIN

MONARCHIST "REBELLION" PETERS OUT

The special correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, via Press Wireless sends the following account of the recent monarchist "uprising" in Spain:

Madrid, Aug. 11.—Antimilitary and antimonarchist demonstrations are being organized here by Republicans as the result of the surprise attack on the General Post Office and the War Ministry by a small band of Monarchists, comprising a handful of officers and civilians which resulted in a sharp battle in the streets of Madrid early yesterday.

A serious outbreak is reported from Seville, where Gen. Jose Sanjurjo is understood to have placed himself at the head of the insurgents.

When the Republic was established General Sanjurjo was in command of the civil guards and his decision to support the new régime did much to enable the revolution to be accomplished without bloodshed. Last February he was transferred for political reasons to the carabinieri—a corps of military police whose chief duty is to patrol the frontiers. Latterly there have been frequent reports of his dissatisfaction with the Republic.

The Government has sent the Sixth Regiment from Madrid to deal with the Seville outbreak.

The attackers in Madrid, who did not exceed 300 in all, do not appear to have had the backing of either military or civilian elements capable of bringing solid support to a movement the aim of which appears to have been to set up a dictatorship.

The attack on the Post Office was led by a former chauffeur of Gen. Primo de Rivera and by the youthful son of Duke de Infantado.

NEW YORK FERRY DISASTER

POSSIBLE DEATH-ROLL OF OVER 100

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

New York, Sept. 10. MANY of the casualties on the ferry-steamer Observation who were rushed to hospital are so seriously injured that their recovery is unlikely, and the death-roll will possibly total a hundred. Swarms of small boats are still searching the river for a trace of the thirty missing, but it is feared their efforts will be in vain.

A feeling eye-witness account of the disaster is given by an iron-worker who just missed the boat. He was still shouting replies to the jovial taunts of his pals on board when he saw the hull of the ill-fated vessel rise from the waters and splinter into a thousand pieces. He himself helped to pull a number of the exhausted and injured, who were swimming about feebly, to the shore.

Two Coincidences. The dead now lie in the same ferry house where, in 1904, a thousand victims of the General Slocum were laid. It is a coincidence also that Police Commissioner Mulrooney, who is now directing the rescue work, arrested the master of the General Slocum after the disaster. At that time he was an ordinary policeman. A further coincidence is that the explosion occurred in almost the same General Slocum tragedy.

It is generally presumed that a boiler exploded; but one witness declared he saw the boiler itself, whole and undamaged, hurtling through the air.

The observation captured when lying alongside a pier a few years ago; since when the iron workers have feared to travel on her.

There will be an official investigation of the allegations that the boat was unsafe, and that the safety valve was held down while steam was being run up.

39 Killed. The latest casualty figures give thirty nine killed and fifty-eight injured in the ferry-steamer disaster. Several passengers are missing.

Three separate inquiries are to be instituted to ascertain the responsibility for the mysterious explosion; for which most of the survivors blame the twenty-four years old boiler.

The Federal examination will be of a criminal nature, while the County police and the Iron Workers' Union are making their own investigations. The Union alleges that the vessel was chartered by the City as a ferry, "unseaworthy and undamaged."

There have been no arrests, but Captain Forayth, the 34-year old master of the vessel is under detention in hospital, where he is lying in a serious condition to be questioned. His father, aged sixty-six, and who piloted the ferry, is among the dead.

WAR IN SOUTH AMERICA

LARGE FORCES CLASH IN THE GRAN CHACO FOREST

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Buenos Aires, Sept. 10. LARGE forces of Bolivian and Paraguayan troops have clashed in the Gran Chaco Forest along an extended front, according to despatches from La Paz.

Aeroplane and heavy artillery participated in a 24-hour battle round the Bolivian stronghold of Fort Boqueron, which the Paraguayans claim to have captured. Considerable casualties are reported to have been suffered by both sides.

The fighting began at dawn yesterday, when strong columns of Bolivian troops advanced from Fort Boqueron against Pozo and Valencia after an intensive artillery bombardment, but the Paraguayans forced their defences. Moreover, they claim to have carried out a successful counter-attack.

President Ayala of Paraguay complains of the silence of the neutral Powers and Washington, from which Paraguay has not received any communication, thus embarrassing her relations with the League of Nations. Each side denounces the other for attacking without formal declaration of war.

War in Half a Dozen Places. London, Sept. 9. Warlike operations, involving heavy fighting sporadically, are going on in half a dozen places in South America unchecked.

The unofficial war between Bolivia and Paraguay is still proceeding, according to despatches from Reuter's correspondent at Asuncion, who says that hostilities are now in full swing.

Bolivia has opened a heavy offensive from Fort Boqueron, says an official message from the war-zone.

All pacificatory efforts by the neutral Powers have failed of effect. Their latest scheme, to send Bolivia a "corridor" to the sea has so far met with no response.

Brazilian Revolt. Reports reaching Buenos Aires from Brazil also indicate that the insurrection there is spreading.

The Government is now faced with new revolutionary movements by three other States besides San Paulo, including the powerful Rio Grande do Sul.

GERMANY AND ARMAMENTS

FRANCE'S REPLY TO GERMAN NOTE

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Sept. 9. THE French Ambassador called this morning at the Foreign Office and was received by Sir John Simon to whom Monsieur de Fleuriau handed, for his information, a draft of the Note which the French Government are despatching in answer to the German Government's Note of August 20.

In view of misleading statements regarding Britain's position which have appeared, it is necessary to make it clear that the document was communicated, not for the purposes of consultation, but of information.

Sir John Simon thanked M. de Fleuriau for his courtesy. It will be recalled that the German Note has already been handed to His Majesty's Government for their information. The Government are thus fully in possession of the facts regarding the latest phase of the Franco-German conversations which will continue to receive their very careful study.

DISARMAMENT

CONFERENCE BUREAU TO MEET SOON

[REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS.]

Geneva, Sept. 9. MR. Arthur Henderson (Chairman) has convened a meeting of the Bureau of the Disarmament Conference for the 21st instant.

According to a resolution of the Disarmament Conference, such convening cannot be postponed, though should Germany fail to send a representative to the meeting, the Bureau has the power to adjourn its deliberations to a later date.

TRIUMPH FOR BRITISH FINANCE

CRISIS CREDIT'S NOW ALL REPAID

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, Sept. 9. A TRIUMPH for British finance is shown in the prompt repayment, which is announced to-night, of the £2,500,000,000 subscribed in 1931 by French investors during the financial crisis.

The whole of the foreign credits obtained by the Treasury during the national emergency have now been repaid.

A heavy task still awaits the Treasury, but it will doubtless be easily carried out.

City authorities estimate that roughly £50,000,000 will be required to redeem the balance of the War Loan still unconverted, while £150,000,000 worth of Treasury Bonds will be converted or repaid during the autumn.

GERMANY UNABLE PAY

M.30,000,000 LOAN DUE ON SEPT. 30

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, Sept. 9. PERSISTENT rumours circulated through the City to-day to the effect that Germany has indicated to the United States that she is unable to meet loan payments due at the end of the month.

Similar reports were in circulation in Paris, but Reuter's Washington correspondent says that Mr. Ogden Mills, Secretary to the Treasury, has issued a statement (Continued at foot of next column.)

TRAIN DERAILED ON C.E.R.

OVER 100 REPORTED KILLED OR INJURED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CHANGCHUN, Sept. 11. OVER a hundred people were killed or injured as the result of the derailment, forty miles from Harbin, of a train leaving here last night. The locomotive and six coaches were smashed.

It is the worst disaster in the history of the C.E.R.

The rails, it is alleged, were maliciously removed by bandits, who robbed the survivors.

THE GALLANT 19TH.

CANTON MEETING DISCUSS PLANS.

TO RAISE FUNDS FOR MAIMED SOLDIERS' HOME.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Canton, Sept. 10. The present trip of General Chiang Kwang Nai of the 19th Route Army to Shanghai being the subject of much discussion here, pressmen sought an interview with Mr. Yung Kwei Ching, officer-in-charge of the Army's headquarters in Canton when they were told that General Chiang had gone to confer with General Chen Ming Shu on the subjects of the Sino-Japanese controversy in Manchuria and the civil administration in Fukien province.

General Tsai Ting Kai has also gone up north on a similar mission," continued Mr. Yung, "and will not return to Fukien until the outstanding problems in connection with the administration and 'Red' suppression in that province have been satisfactorily thrashed out."

Maimed Soldiers.

The Police Recreation Club was the scene of a meeting of all sections of the community this afternoon when they discussed plans for the raising of the required fund for erecting a home in the City for the maimed and disabled soldiers of the 19th Route Army. The representative nature of the meeting was eloquent evidence of the esteem in which the men of this Army are held by the public here and some very elaborate suggestions were put forward. The plans, however, have not been definitely decided upon as yet, though it should not be more than a day or two when the decision will be released for publication.

TENSION FELT IN MEXICO.

TROOPS STANDING BY AT OPENING OF CONGRESS.

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—The Mexican National Congress opened to-day, with all troops ordered to remain in their barracks ready for call as a precaution against possible disorders.

Rumours persisted, despite previous official denials, that President Ortiz Rubio will retire. He is filling out the unexpired term of the late Gen. Alvaro Obregon.

President Rubio, however, opened the session of Congress, vigorously denying rumours of political unrest and promising that the Government was determined to satisfy the necessities and hopes of the peasant class.

He said that the "attitude of other nations" had obliged Mexico to readjust her tariffs on a protectionist basis.

announcing that no formal notice of postponement of debt repayments has been received from Germany. Mr. Mills has, however, been discussing the matter with the German Embassy.

French Position.

In connection with the report that Germany has already notified the United States of her inability to meet the payment of 23,000,000 marks which falls due on September 30, it is noteworthy that French financial and political circles are awaiting with considerable interest the decision of the French Government regarding the payment to America due on September 15.

Excluding capital repayment, France should pay approximately £380,000,000 before the end of the year.

It is anticipated that the Herriot Government will decide to pay the interest and postpone the capital instalment.

FURTHER BANDIT OUTRAGE

BRITISHERS ATTACKED ON GOLF COURSE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Sept. 11. A MESSAGE from Harbin states that two Englishmen, including Mr. Henson, manager of the Hong Kong & Shanghai Bank, were slightly wounded when resisting an attempt by five bandits to kidnap them while playing golf on Saturday afternoon.

KIDNAPPED BRITISHERS

BANDITS DEMAND $250,000 RANSOM

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

DAIREN, Sept. 10. THE captors of Mrs. Muriel Pawley and Mr. Charles Corkran are demanding a ransom of a quarter of a million dollars, which the British Consul at Newchwang says should be paid by the Government of the Manchukuo, which is responsible for the maintenance of peace and order.

Avoiding Danger.

Newchwang, Sept. 10. Mrs. Pawley's father, and Dr. Phillips, who is a Medical Missionary, are confident that contact can be established with the kidnappers through the mediation of former patients; but he requests that the name and the location of the intermediaries shall be withheld.

For the purpose of avoiding danger to the captives, the British Authorities insist that release shall be negotiated without any resort to fighting.

ANTI-JAPANESE MOVEMENT

CONSUL LODGES A STRONG PROTEST

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10. IT is learned that the Japanese Consul at Kiukiang has lodged a strong protest with the Chinese authorities regarding the anti-Japanese movement in Kiukiang.

CHIANG KAI SHEK

REPORTED RETURNING TO NANKING

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10. IT is reported that Chiang Kai Shek will shortly return to Nanking from Hankow to attend to urgent Government business.

STUDENTS ON STRIKE

OBJECTION TO PRINCIPAL'S DISMISSAL

Colombo, August 4.—Following hard on the recent strike by girl students of the Suddartha Training School, another strike of over 200 students of the Rahula Vidyalaya of Matula, is reported, the reason being a report that the services of the Principal had been discontinued.

The students who, this time, are boys, state that they will not attend school pending a formal inquiry by a responsible officer of the Educational Department.

The local Buddhist community is much excited and a meeting is being convened to inquire regarding the circumstances of the Principal's dismissal and other matters pertaining to the general management of the school.

SCOTTISH SOCIALIST PARTY FORMED

NEW MOVE BY SECEDERS FROM I.L.P. GROUP

London, September 2.—In view of the decision recently taken by the Independent Labour Party, the Scottish members of the Independent Labour group who disapproved of this step, yesterday held a meeting in Glasgow in the course of which a Scottish Socialist Party was formed.

The new Party decided, while giving its support to the Labour Party, to be autonomous, and to assess the financial resources of the group to conduct socialist propaganda.

It is believed that the Scottish Socialist Party will be supported by those members of the Independent Labour Party who have expressed their disapproval of the I.L.P.'s separation from the British Labour Party.

LYTTON REPORT ON MANCHURIA

GERMAN NEWSPAPER COMMENT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Berlin, Sept. 9. THE Japanese forecast of the Lytton Report has not aroused comment in the German newspapers, with the exception of Lokalanzeiger, which describes it as a "makeshift report," and says that the attempt to suggest anything approaching a decision and doing justice to both sides has failed.

BRITISH OPINION

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, September 10. While it is recognised that two coming events—the publication of the Japan Manchukuo Treaty and the Lytton Report—will constitute a major crisis in the Far East, responsible British opinion tends to await the definite contents of the Lytton Report, regarding the parts of it which leak out as misleading and not informing to public opinion.

The Financial News, however, remarks that enough is already known to indicate that the two documents will be mutually exclusive, which fundamental opposition must produce, deeply significant decisions either by the League or Japan, or both. The paper further observes that pacific relations are almost at a deadlock and that not too much importance need be attached to the continued presence in the Pacific of the United States, but that the stirrings of nationalism in China and Japan are too deep to admit of any easy compromise between them.

The article concludes by saying that in the Autumn the crisis may well lie in the decision as to whether the weakness or exuberance of nationalism is to predominate. Whether, with the difficulties in her economic background, Japan will be compelled towards, or precluded from, implementing her ambitious Manchurian programme. This must be one of the major decisions of the year.

A TALK ABOUT ANN HARDING.

"THE BEST OF FRIENDS" I SHALL NEVER MARRY ANYONE ELSE."

London, August 8.—Ann Harding's ex-husband arrived in London to-day from Hollywood—and talked about Ann Harding.

They were divorced last March, you may remember; and the grounds for the divorce were that they wanted to "preserve their love." Ann Harding thought that her fame as a film blonde was making it impossible for her husband to have any stage career of his own.

Her ex-husband's name is Harry Bannister. He is an actor. He is very tall, very bronzed and very blue-eyed.

"Ann and I," he said, "are the best of friends. She saw me off Los Angeles, and I shall no doubt meet her when I return."

"I cannot answer that question. But I can tell you that I shall never marry anyone else."

"You see, things in Hollywood are very difficult for married folk. Very difficult. I managed Ann's business affairs and I made enemies. Yes; I was responsible for her very big contract with R.K.O. and I was acting with the company, too. We found our position untenable."

"We share our daughter Jane, but my wife—or Miss Harding—has her more than I do. She was with me for a month before I left."

"It is possible that Ann may come back from films to the stage and, well, we may meet there again. It was on Broadway that we met before our marriage—5 years ago."

Harry Bannister is looking for plays with which he can return to Broadway.

"You have all the playwrights," he said, "and I want to meet them. It's smart society comedies we want for Broadway. Terrible state of affairs there."

"I would like to meet Noel Coward, who is brilliant, and I will certainly see Seymour Hicks in 'The Week End Sport.

BIG CROWD AT MACAO RACES.

JACKIE NORONHA WINS NOVICE RACE ON OUTSIDER: BIG DIVIDEND RETURNED.

CITY OF MELBOURNE ALMOST BEATEN IN THRILLING FINISH.

[By "MORNING DEW"]

Although the weather in Hong Kong yesterday morning looked anything but promising, the sun shone brightly in Macao where the Macao Jockey Club held their Fourth Extra Race Meeting. A large crowd of race fans from Hong Kong made the trip to the Portuguese Colony and were rewarded with some thrilling sport and big dividends.

City of Melbourne, a red-hot favourite for the Australian race, gave his supporters a great fright when he appeared to be unable to stand a hot challenge from The Rainbow, a comparative outsider, and it was only thanks to the splendid efforts of Mr. Frost that the pony was able to win by a neck.

"Jackie" Noronha, who had been absent from local racing for some months, rode Esby beautifully to win the Novices race by a head from Gallant Fox. He paid a dividend of almost 20-1.

HONOURS EVEN AMONG THE JOCKEYS.

Mr. A. W. da Roza was riding well yesterday and won two out of the six races. Messrs Frost, Laing, Noronha and Charles had a win each.

The cash sweep figures were not very big, but the special drawing resulted in a prize of almost $4,000 for the winner.

Amoy Handicap.

There were nine starters for this race, the betting being fairly even. After one false start, the field got away evenly with the exception of Drinan, who was left at the post.

Jingo took the lead into the straight followed by Genghis Khan, Guiding Star and Venturous. The last named put up a good run after the distance post was past and won by five lengths. Genghis Khan fired very rapidly but could not even get a place.

Machine Gun Troop Race.

The Partridge started favourite in a field of ten in the second race and his supporters got the fright of their lives when Mr. Charles appeared to be unable to do anything with his mount. However, The Partridge responded gamely over the last furlong and just managed to win by a neck from White Stars who was beaten practically on the last stride. Social Mark was third four lengths behind White Stars.

Footchow Handicap.

This race proved to be one of the best seen in the Macao course. Of the seven starters, Cebu, Imperial Hall, and San Francisco were well backed, but it was left to Mr. W. Roza on Powerful King to bring home his mount to win by the slightest margin conceivable from Cebu, ridden by Mr. A. A. R. Botelho. Mr. G. A. Harriman finished third on Gold Bar, in front of San Francisco, who had led most of the way round after getting a good start.

Queensland Handicap.

As predicted, City of Melbourne won this race, but only by a narrow margin and also because he had the service of Mr. Frost. The Rainbow caught up with every stride in the straight and a more experienced jockey than Tang Man Wah, would probably have won.

The winner led all the way home. Anniversary Eve and The Rainbow followed him in that order until the straight was reached when The Rainbow put up a strong challenge which brought him within a neck of the winner.

Hankow Handicap.

Mr. Noronha, one of the most promising jockeys among the novices made a welcome return to local racing circles when he won in the Hankow Handicap in great style, when riding Esby, a rank outsider, he managed to win from a field of eleven, just "pipping" Gallant Fox on the post.

Blue Heaven, ridden by Kemble, was a red-hot favourite, but he did not seem to make any headway after figuring in a bad start. Jingo, starting for a second time, was again placed.

Hangchow Handicap.

The last race, which drew seven starters fell to Mr. W. Roza, who rode Tien Feng Shan smartly to win by two lengths from New King, who was four lengths in front of Arminius. These three ponies were in a class by themselves in this race.

M.C.C. BOTS MEN IN FORM

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Sept. 10. THE All-India XI, playing in the final match of their tour, drew with Mr. Leveson-Gowers' XI. The latter compiled 305 for 6 in their first innings. Sutcliffe scoring another century, while his colleague Leyland obtained 70. The Indians replied with 280, Amar Singh batting well to score 107. Jupp took 5 wickets for 88. Stumps were drawn after the home team had scored 99 without loss. The M.C.C. Australian tourists met and defeated the Rest of England by 241 runs. The match was featured by the brilliant batting display of R. E. S. Wyatt, who, after scoring 91 in his first innings, carried his bat for 171 in the second. For the losers, Frayk Woolley scored 75.

"WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND."

JACKIE COOPER AT THE QUEEN'S.

Jackie Cooper heightens his reputation as the leading juvenile screen artist of the day in the latest release at the Queen's Theatre.

In this picture, "When a Feller Needs a Friend," this youngster plays the part of a pampered crippled boy with such skill and depth of emotional feeling as would do justice to an artist many years his senior. However, we see too much sentimentality, which, though splendidly portrayed by one so young, becomes hard to assimilate in such quantities. A little more comic relief would assist the picture.

Charles "Chic" Sale gives an entertaining characterization of an old man. He plays the part of the boy's Uncle, and succeeds in conveying the impression of an eccentric horse-car conductor whose aim is to help the crippled lad.

A German specialist is engaged to try and cure the boy, but fails. Uncle Jonas then takes over, but instead of attempting to cure the physical ailments, he instils into the boy the necessity for possessing the virtues of self-respect and courage. That he succeeds, is shown when his charge overcomes his inferiority complex and fights a bullying cousin, Ralph Graves, in playing the difficult part of an over-sympathetic father gives a convincing display.

Contrary to all conventions in pictures of this nature, we do not see the lad miraculously cured in conclusion. He remains a cripple, and here the picture goes up a step as a dramatic production.

"NIGHT COURT."

NEXT OFFERING AT THE QUEEN'S.

A trade notice states:—The intensely dramatic story of an innocent girl who is "framed" and sent to prison on a morals charge because she has unwittingly come into possession of incriminating evidence against an unscrupulous judge is told in "Night Court," which starts at the Queen's Theatre on Wednesday.

Mike, a young New York taxi-driver, and his wife, Mary, are the principals of the plot. Living in a cheap tenement district of the city, they are blissfully unaware that the woman in the next apartment is the paramour of a well-known night court magistrate. Accidentally, Mary finds a bankbook revealing the judge's cache of crooked spoils, which he had dropped during one of his visits "next door."

To prevent her knowledge from harming him, the judge has Mary "framed" on a morals charge and sent to prison. Discovering the plot, Mike opens war on the dissolute magistrate and his underworld tribe, and in so doing is "taken for a ride," and almost killed by torture before he escapes. The manner in which he subsequently gets the judge into his power and frees Mary brings the plot to a sensational climax.

"DEVOTION."

FINE PICTURE AT THE CENTRAL.

A trade notice states:—"Devotion," the current RKO Pathé attraction at the Central Theatre, starring Ann Harding, reproduces the famed and lovely Temple District of London.

Against this exquisite background, in contrast to its air of history and tradition, there is played an unusually pleasing story of modern romance, light comedy, and drama.

That such a story and setting should have Ann Harding as the star is one of the happy combinations too seldom seen in pictures. The star handles expertly a rôle demanding a wide emotional range. Perhaps never has Miss Harding appeared to more excellent advantage. She proves once again that she is an actress of fine ability, whose talent is not confined to one type of rôle.

Leslie Howard, who will be remembered for his fine work in "Outward Bound" and "Reserved for Ladies," is splendid in the leading rôle opposite Miss Harding. Robert Williams does another outstanding characterization.

"THIS IS THE NIGHT"

LIGHT OPERA COMES TO THE FILM.

DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT AT KING'S THEATRE.

When you see "This is the Night," now showing at the King's—and you certainly should see it—you will ask why, if the film industry can give us as good entertainment as this, it so seldom makes the effort. Here is delightful comic opera—a very good story, without any stupid clowning, excellent acting, catchy music, with amazing and delightful variations on that old nursery tune, "My dame has lost her shoe," and the settings are in Paris and Venice!

The theme song, by the way, is "My Lady's lost her dress," and Thelma Todd, one of the loveliest and most scornful blondes in screenland plays the lady with a penchant for catching her frock in doors and having it torn off her.

The crowd sings the song, the jolly porters sing it as they pass the luggage, and the Paris-Venice express, sings it in gruff puffs and throbs. This device, taken of course from Sunshine Susie, is admirably dovetailed into the story. What happens is this, Gerald Grey, a stiff and respectable young Englishman—Roland Young at his inimitable best—is reluctantly drawn into an affair with Claire (Thelma Todd).

To quiet the lady's husband—the world's champion javelin thrower—he takes a nominal wife secured by his pal, Charlie Ruggles. The "wife," however, is vivacious, alluring and hot tempered; the beautiful Lily Damita delights in the part, and how she looks it!

Venice and gondoliers, and people singing by moonlight! What a setting and how well it is worked! There is, the quality that made the Merry Widow the operetta success of a generation—a surface of light cynicism playing over intense human feeling!

Hollywood has also learned from Elstree the effect of delightful detail, and from this film you will carry away memories of fat porters laughing and singing, of a "boot faced" French policeman shadowing poor Roland Young and Charlie Ruggles, and of two excited Italian carabinieri.

As a last word, there is an excellent cartoon "A Hunting We Will Go"—the fine old tune being sung lustily to the most fantastic nonsense that ever a "Talkation" artist could imagine.

KING'S THEATRE PRESENTATION

ESSAYISTS PRESENTED WITH GOLD MEDALS.

The presentation of gold medals to winners in the essay competition, held under the auspices of the King's Theatre took place in the Theatre on Saturday, the awards being presented by the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'so.

The following were the winners:—
Tee Shui Man, St. Paul's College, gold medalist; Chan Kim Ying, Munsang College, gold medalist; Tsai Mong Yuk, St. Paul's College; John Poon, St. John's College; Fong Hien Sui, Munsang College; and Gabriel Lau, St. Paul's College.

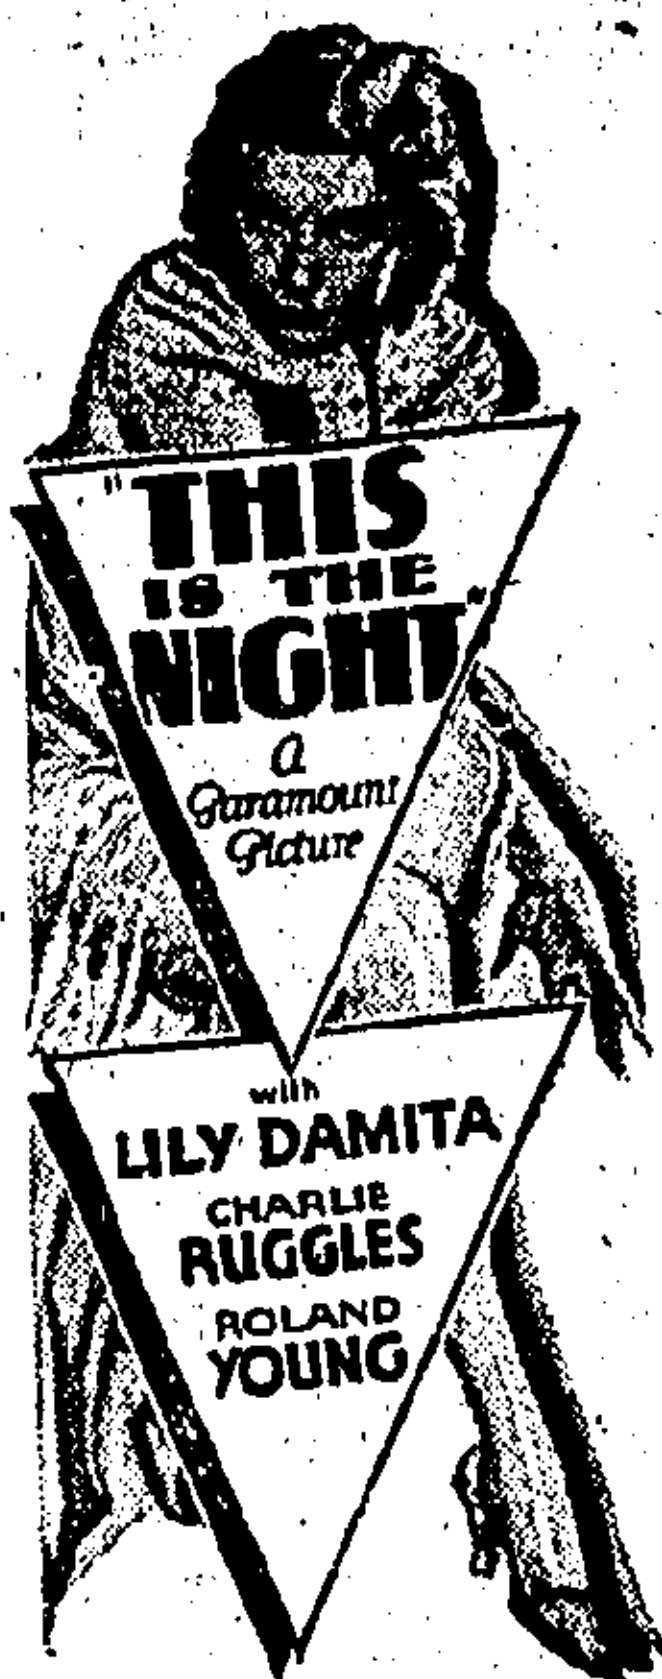

Hon. Dr. T'so in his address, said:—
The competition was open to students of all schools in the Colony and six prizes were offered for the best six Essays on the cooling system of the King's Theatre," Dr. T'so explained. "Intending competitors were given the opportunity of coming here to study and examine into the principle of the system and every detail of its mechanism was thoroughly explained and demonstrated to them."

The six best essays were selected by judges upon the merits of their English composition and the correctness of their technical description. The management therefore tenders its hearty thanks to the judges, the editors of the Hong Kong Telegraph and the Hong Kong Daily Press, and Mr. Macfarlane, of the Dairy Farm and Cold Storage Co., who adjudged the technical part of the competition.

"CARELESS LADY."

COMING TO THE KING'S.

A trade notice states:—Of the fifteen most important players in "Careless Lady," coming to the King's Theatre, all but three have been either starred or featured in successes of the stage.

Joan Bennett, in the feminine lead, had only one stage rôle before she went into pictures, but she subsequently reached film fame in "Bulldog Drummond," "Three Live Ghosts," "Dianchi," "Scotland Yard," "Doctors' Wives" and "She Wanted a Millionaire."

Joan Boles was a musical comedy favourite on Broadway in "Little Jesse James," "Mercenary Mary," "Romany Love Spell" and other hits before he joined the screen colony to score new triumphs in "The Desert Song," "Rio Rita," "King of Jazz," "Seed," "Good Sport" and other successes.

Minna Gombell starred in "Nancy's Private Affair," "The Great Power" and "Jimmie's Woman" during her theatrical career. Weldon Hayburn played opposite Jeanne Eagles, Lenore Urie and other celebrities before entering films. Raul Roulien starred throughout Central and South America in musical comedy before he came to Hollywood. J. M. Kerrigan was featured in many stage hits, including "Outward Bound," "White Wings," "John Ferguson" and "The Road to Reno."

Josephine Hull in "Midnight," "After Tomorrow," "Fata Morgana," "March Hares" and "Those We Love," James Kirwood in "The Fool," "The Barker," "The Great Divide" and other noted plays; William Pawley in "Four Walls," "Gentlemen of the Press," "Subway Express" and "Bad Girl"—all have known star or feature billing on Broadway.

"THE ROAD TO RENO."

UNIQUE FILM AT THE ORIENTAL.

A trade notice states:—Reno, one of the most colourful cities in America, is the locale of the featured picture, "The Road to Reno," which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre.

"The Road to Reno" gives more than a glimpse at this city where marital knots are dissolved in the fluent and of court-room authority. It gives an intimate and graphic account of what happens to the individuals—people of many varied types, who go to have their bonds of wedlock clipped.

There is the searful-climber matron who wants a divorce just to be fashionable. There is the young couple seeking "freedom" after their "first year" spent. There is the slightly giddy rone with an eye for a plump young grass-widow. There are gambling houses, "freedom parties," gin joints, short and unhappy weddings—and many other phenomena spread before the eyes of the audience.

In making this picture Paramount has mustered one of the most distinguished casts of film favorites the screen has seen or heard in recent months.

It includes Lillian Tassman of "Up Pops the Devil" and "Murder by the Clock"; Charles "Buddy" Rogers of "The Lawyer's Secret" and "Safety in Numbers"; Peggy Shannon of "Silence" and "The Secret Call"; William Boyd of "Gun Smoke" and "Murder by the Clock"; Irving Pichel of "Murder by the Clock" and "An American Tragedy"; Wynne Gibson of "Man of the World" and "Kick In"; Skeets Gallagher of "It Pays to Advertise" and "Up Pops the Devil"; Judith Wood (formerly known as Helen Johnson) of "The Vice Squad" and "It Pays to Advertise."

THE NEWEST & GREATEST LAUGH PICTURE OF THE YEAR

CHARLIE MURRAY & GEORGE SIDNEY IN THEIR LATEST LAUGHING HIT

"CAUGHT CHEATING"

SHOWING SOON
SIDNEY FOX'S NEWEST TRIUMPH
"NICE WOMEN"

Barry Jones Sings Operas.

"Take a pair of sparkling eyes," trilled in a well modulated baritone is scarcely what one expects to hear during the production of George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," or so thought Cecil Lewis, who is directing the film. On investigation he discovered Barry Jones, who plays the leading rôle, ensconced behind the scenery of a Bulgarian house with a full libretto of W. S. Gilbert's famous lyrics. Between scenes Jones has encouraged the cast to join him in duets and quartettes from the famous Gilbert and Sullivan operas for which he has a passion.

Will Signs Contract.

Will Rogers, the ambassador, has signed another contract with Fox. This involves four more pictures, the first of them to be "Jubilo." This is to be modernized after the manner of Roger's musical comedy successes, and after that will come "State Fair." The others haven't been chosen so far.

Evelyn Bostock.

Evelyn Bostock pinned her faith to Elstree. As an aspirant for the highest screen honours she saw that it was a waste of time to wait for work in agents' offices, and equally unexciting to go from studio to studio on the outskirts of London in the hope that she would turn up at the moment when a crowd was being called.

Accordingly, she sought work only at the two great studios at Elstree; and she visited them every day in the hope of finding her way into a crowd scene.

Her efforts met with regular success. She was so successful, indeed, that in eighteen months she was scarcely ever unemployed. She appeared in so many films that she lost count of them, and her face was more familiar in the Elstree studios than that of many a star.

Tom Walls noticed Evelyn Bostock in the crowd of "A Night Like This," and arranged to give her a test. Then he fell ill, and it seemed that chance had passed her by; but while Tom Walls was recuperating, Herbert Wilcox, Director of Productions to British and Dominion, carried out the promised test. It was satisfactory, and Evelyn was cast in the part of Kitty Stratton in "Thank."

Jean Cadell's Tapestry Chair Cover.

Jean Cadell, who appears in "Timbuctoo" and "The Fires of Fate," has embroidered a tapestry chair of beautiful design which represents "waits" between scenes. A cluster of flowers on a warm brown background is the pattern, and "The Fires of Fate," took her to the fourth pink rose, and "Timbuctoo" tied them off with a gay blue ribbon. She declares tapestry is the most soothing occupation, and is a useful as well as a useful occupation.
